The Foreign Relations Committee Adopts Foraker Amendment-No Alien Power Need Apply.

[BY THE NEW ASSO CLATED PRESS-A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations today decided to recommend further amendments to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. The committee adopted the amendment suggested by Senator Foraker, which declares that the Hay-Pauncefote treaty supersedes the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, and also strikes out the Hay-Pauncefote agreement, Article III, which permits the submission of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty to other powers and invites their acceptance of it.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.-[Exclusive Dispatch.] Work in regard to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty started early this morning, when President McKinley sent for Secretary of State Hay, Senator Lodge, Senator Foraker and Senator Aldrich to come to the White House for a conference. These Senators were summoned so that the President and Secretary Hay might find out what the Senate is likely to do further in the way of amending the treaty, and also to give Secretary Hay an opportunity to explain about how much more amending England might be expected to stand and still accept

It is understood that at the conference Secretary Hay said he did not believe the British government would accept the treaty if another amendment were with the Davis amendment on. The Senators exsed that the temper of the Senate was strongly in

Then Senators Foraker and Lodge went up to the Capitol and attended a meeting of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. That meeting lasted about fifteen minutes, and during that short time the committee instructed its chairman to report favorably to the Senate two additional amendments to the Hay-

First-That the Hay-Pauncefote treaty supersede

Second-That Article III of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, asking other nations to accede to the provisions of that convention, be stricken out.

Those two amendments were reported to the Senate shortly after noon, when that body had gone into executive session, and then the debate upon them began and lasted until after 5 o'clock. During that debate, numerous efforts were made to get the Senate to agree upon a time for taking a vote upon the treaty as a whole, and also upon the amendments pending and to be offered. It was found impossible to reach

The Senators generally seem to believe that the two latest amendments, both offered by Senator Foraker, opinion whether England will accept the treaty as amended in that shape, or not. Nobody in the Senate seems to care very much.

That ended the conference. Everything was good-tempered. Secretary Hay showed no ill-feeling toward the Senate for its course towards the treaty, and of course the President showed none.

England, these men say, will not accept the treaty in 'time for action upon the Canal Bill before March 4, if she accepts it at all. There are even suggestions that the treaty is being juggled by the enemies of the Nicaragua canal, who think that by bringing on complications upon this matter they will be able to postpone, at least till another session, the passage of the Hepburn Canal Bill, but there is no direct evidence of this, to accede to it. This the United States could not do, because to do so would be a violation of its policy as to European complications, steadily adhered to since Washington's Farewell Address. Article VIII, and possibly some other articles in the treaty of Constantinople, binds the signatory powers to watch over the execution of the treaty. To do this would bring the United States within the concert of Europe as an active, participating, and possibly beiligerent power. That which we cannot do as to Europe, the Hay-Pauncefote treaty invites the European powers to do as to the Western Hemisphere, interesting them as parties under control in certain contingencies, and all in violation of the Monroe doctrine."

considered, and a decision was arrived at to press the agreement to a vote if possible. It was also decided that it would be difficult to get it through without still further amendment, and the Foraker amendment was suggested as meeting all objections. When the Senate went into executive essaion, Senator Lodge reported the amendments agreed upon in committee. There were two. The first of these inserts the words, "which is hereby superseded" after the words "Clayton-Bulwer treaty," in the first paragraph of Article II of the treaty, making that paragraph read as follows: paragraph of Article II of the treaty, making that paragraph read as follows:

"The high contracting parties, desiring to preserve and maintain the 'general principle' of neutralization established in Article VIII of the Clayton-Bulwer convention, which is hereby superseded, adopt as the basis of such neutralization the following rules, substantially as embodied in the convention between Great Britain and certain other powers, signed at Constantinople, October 23, 1885, for the free navigation of the Suez maritime canal."

The second of these amendments strikes out Article III of the treaty, reading as follows: "The high contracting parties will immediately, upon exchange of the ratifications of this convention, bring it to the notice of the other powers, and invite them to adhere to it."

It was stated that the committee had been unanimous in this action, with the exception of Senator Money, who opposes any action except the absolute and unconstitutional abrogation of the complished by the amendment reported today, but the Mississippi Senator would have this done through other means than the Hay-Paunecofor treaty. CABINET ASKED FOR WARSHIP, BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.1 WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—About the WASHINGTON. Dec. 14.—About the only subject of popular interest discussed in the very short Cabinet meeting today was the application of Rev. James F. Hill of Cannonsburg. Pa., for government aid in protecting native Christians in the New Hebrides Islands. The subject was brought before the Cabinet by Secretary Long, to whom the application had been made for a warship in behalf of the missionary interests. The islands lie about a thousand miles east of Australia, and just north of New Caledonia. They have been under a divided French and British protectorate. There was a general disposition on the part of the Cabinet officers to do sverything proper and possible to meet the request of the missionary interests, but it was found that to send swarship to this out of the way part of the world would require a trip of about 4000 miles from the nearest American station, and the Navy Department has no vessels now available for such purpose. It was also reported that French and British gunboats patrol these seas, and doubtless would seek to prevent any such attack upon the native Christiana, as is said to have been planned.

which provides for the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty by diplomatic methods. He said that he was opposed to proceeding by piecemeal to get rid of a compact so objectionable to American ideas as the Clayton-Bulwer treaty is. He thought it entirely competent for this country to pass the Hepburn Canal Bill and proceed with the canal independently of all treaties, either in force or pending. Senator Spooner combatted the arguments of Mr. Culberson. He said he favored the canal, and believed the United States should have the right to fortify and defend it, but he could not accept the view that we should proceed in that great work in total disregard of the existence of the agreement of 1850.

Senator Lendsay spoke for the ratification of the treaty without further amendment. Senator McCumber also favored ratification of the treaty withthe amendment, but it was carried by 123 to 106. The text of the amendment in as follows:

IBT THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRIESS—P.M.;

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The action of the Committee on Foreign Relations today took place after a prolonged conference of Senators especially interested in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. The conference was not called together until 11:45 o'clock, fifteen minutes before the time for the convening of the Senate. There was, therefore, no time for a discussion of the amendment made or for others suggested. The Republican members announced that they were prepared to amend the treaty on the lines of the Foraker suggestion; that they considered this amendment comprehensive enough to meet all demands, and that they would do no more. The Foraker amendment was accordingly agreed to, and the committee adjourned in time to pegmit the members to be in the Senate chamber when the Senate was called to order.

The meeting of the Senatorial friends Loud, voted as a unit today to force the express companies to pay their proper proportion of the war taxes. PROF. TYRELL AND PARTY RETURN

Traveled Over Five Thousand Miles on His Tour-Englishman Rescued After Five Years of Captivity Among

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M. VANCOUVER, Dec. 14.—Prof. J. W. Tyrell, the celebrated explorer of Ca-nadian wilds, has returned from an expedition through the barren lands of Northern Canada. He traveled over 5000 miles on the tour. His expedition, which was sent out by the Canadian government, met with many perils in the long journey to the northwest of Hudson Bay.

Prof. Tyrell made the important dis-covery that the barren lands generally supposed to be treeless prairie were covered in many places with rich north-erm forests. There were stretches of timber land 200 miles in extent.

In August Prof. J. W. Bell of the Geological Survey, who was second in command of the expedition, went on a side tour of 500 miles up one of the branches of the Thelon. There he restour of 500 miles up one of the branches of the Thelon. There he rescued an Englishman named Charles Bunn, who had been held in captivity by the Esquimaux for five years. Prof. Bell was in the lead of the party when they entered a village just before nightfall, and was amaged to see a tall, well-built man, dressed like an Esquimaux, come running up and address him in English.

Bunn told a marvelous story. He said that he had gone out from Edmonton in 1896, and had wandered far into the interior, shooting and trapping. He ran short of provisions and applied to an Esquimaux family. They took him to their village, where he was compelled to remain living as one of them. He had several thousand dollars' worth of furs. He joined Bell's party and came out to Edmonton with the explorers.

McConnell, former Governor of Idaho, and now United States Indian Inspector, arrived in the city today from a trip to the Tulail, Swinomish and Lummi Indian reservations. He says that a great deal of the timber lands on the reservations are practically valueless, having been deunded of timber by former agents.

Fishermen have also been encroaching on the rights of the Indians by erecting fish traps in front of the reservations in defiance of the law. An effort will be made to bring the matter to the attention of the Federal authorities.

A bill presented by J. D. Works to prevent the setting of forest fires and closely modeled upon the existing Federal provision applying to government lands, imposing maximum penalties of $1000 fine and one year's imprisonment, one-half of the fine going to persons furnishing information upon which conviction shall be based, was unsnimously approved.

Acts were also approved providing for the joint investigation, with the Federal government, of the water reservoirs of the State; the best methods of forest preservation and perpetuation, and for the creation of a board of water and forest commissioners to conduct such investigation on behalf of the State, such offices to be without salary or emolument attached, but to be placed in control of appropriations for carrying forward their appointed work.

A joint resolution was passed asking Congress to appropriate $25,000 for the Geological Survey, and $100,000 for the Department of Agriculture, to further investigations and surveys in arid regions. An amendment to the laws of regions. An amendment to the laws of the State, empowering mutual water companies to condemn rights of way for canal pips systems, was ap-proved.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec 1.—[Associated Press Correspondence. Wired from Chicago, Dec. 14.] Prof. Markgraf reported the results of his exploration of the Yenesei and Obi valleys at the last meeting of the Geographical Society. He used gondolas the greater part of the time, and traveled an average of 200 kilometers a day. The population of the adjacent country retired into the interior upon his approach.

Prof. Markgraf declared the most important fact established by the ex-

There is considerable gossip in university circles over a recent occurrence there. M. from Chicago, Dec. 14.] Primee Khalkioff, the Minister of Railroads, today gave the correspondent of the Associated Press a complete outline of the railway projects which are now under way, or are seriously considered. A new line, nearly 300 kilometers, or about 200 miles in length, has just received the approval of the Council of State. It will be a government line, and will connect the basins of the Don and the Dneiper, paralleling the line to Yakaterinoslaff and running some distance south of this line. The Yakaterinoslaff line is crowded with grain traffic. The cost will be fifteen or twenty million roubles. Work will be leven next spring.
The road from Orenburg to Tashkita, which will be 1900 kilos, or between 1200 and 1300 miles long, will be begun at both ends at the same time. The total cost will be about 30,000,000 roubles.
The line from Sesterosk, on the Fignish border, will be given a St. Petersburg terminal next year. Work will also be begun, according to a recent decision, upon the St. Petersburgbranch of the great Siberian line, which will join the Moscow line in the Ural passes before reaching Chelayblinsk.
A private company is seeking a concassion for a line from the Dnieper binsk.

A private company is seeking a concession for a line from the Dnieper Valley, beginning probably near Netcopol or Alexandrovsk, to Odessa, with a total length of 610 versts, or something over 400 miles. The surveys have been begun.

Another company has long been asking for a concession for a line from Yalta to Sebastopol, but it is hardly thought that this will be granted, as the road will have to pass through the Emperor's property. It was proposed that electricity should be substituted for steam as motive power, but the Emperor still objected, and the line will probaby ultimately be built more to the eastward, running from Yalta to Simferopol.

eastward, running from Yalta to Simferopol.

The Siberian Railway will probably be completed from Stretensk to the Chinese frontier within a few months.
The government also hopes to complete enough of the line around the Lake of Baikal to enable the boat to make its crossing twenty miles shorter before the end of the year. The entire loop, with a length of 290 kilos, or nearly 200 miles, will cost about 40,000,000 roubles.

The greatest damage done to the wires was between this city and Benicia, where the winds from San Francisco Bay had full sweep. In places poles for several hundred yards were blown down, and the wires were thrown into a mass of confusion.

The few telegrams received from outside points show that the storm extended quite generally over the central and northern portion of the State. The principal damage done was caused by the wind, which blew down many trees, fences and frail buildings.

At Salinas Mrs. John King was instantly killed by being blown from the stank of a windmill. Her husband at Seattle has been notified. This is the only fatality reported. Heavy thunder and lightning accompanied the storm. HAVOC BY WIND.

There was no one near the tank at the time of the accident, but several men had been working on it earlier in the morning. A house standing be-hind the tank was struck by one of the falling girders, and its rear walls were shattered as if by a giant knife.

At the time of the explosion the tank, which is seventy-nine feet in diameter, stood about twenty feet above the surface of the water level, The lightning apparently struck from the southwest side, whirling the tank around, twisting the girders from their beds and hurling them upon the ground about the tank. The top of the tank it-self is battered and twisted into shapelessness. A ragged hole eighteen inches in diameter close to the joining of the top and sides, shows where the lightning struck and the imprisoned gas burst through the heavy sheet iron. Leading from this hole is a fisiron. Leading from this hole is a fis-sure extending for about twenty-five feet to the top, where the gas tore the heavy iron sheets from the riveting. Bastions, huge iron wheels and base lie shattered and broken among the débris surrounding the collapsed tank.

FREAKS IN MARIN. KITCHEN FLIES-GUNS BURST. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN RAFAEL, Dec. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The terrific storm of wind and rain this morning played peculiar freaks in Marin county. In San Rafael, the kitchen of Mrs. M. Flaherty was lifted from its foundations by a whirlwind and tossed over an eightfoot fence upon the roof of an adjoining house occupied by Thomas O'Brien. The kitchen slid from the roof of the latter house, tearing a portion of it, and finally landed, a crushed wreck, in the O'Brien back yard. Luckily no one was in the kitchen at the time, although Mrs. Flaherty had stepped out of the place scarcely a moment before the accident. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

Morrison Trial Ends in a Hung Jury.

Nine Members Voted for an Acquittal.

Prisoner May Be Released on Bond-Charges of Perjury. History of the Case.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.) ELDORADO (Kan.,) Dec. 14.—Jessie Morrison's trial for the murder of Mrs. G. Olin Castle, whose life she is charged with having taken because of her love for Castle, ended today at noon in a hung jury. Although the jury did not agree on a verdict, the result of their deliberations came near being an acquittal. Almost before the case had been discussed by them, nine jurors voted for acquittal and three for conviction, the three holding out for manslaughter in the fourth degree, the punishment for which ranged from six months in jail to two years in the penitentiary. The jurors had BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M. in the penitentiary. had waited patiently for their dis-charge.

The case will now go over to the spring court. In the mean time, Miss Morrison's lawyers will make applica-tion for her release on bond, which, it is believed, Judge Shinn has already made up his mind to grant. It is not believed that another jury could be secured in the county to try the case. Miss Morrison, who is a frail little woman. 29 years of are, had undersone five months' imprisonment, but during the tedious three weeks' hearing of the case. She showed little anxiety or nervousness when she appeared in the the case. She showed little anxiety or nervousness when she appeared in the courtroom today, and after the jury had been discharged, walked quietly with her relatives to her cell. county Attorney Brumback is quoted as saying this evening: "It was all a farce. I knew that there were three jurors unfavorable to the State, and would hang the jury. I will begin at once to investigate and arrests for per-jury are pretty sure to follow. Per-jury has been committed in the testi-mony of the defense."

History of the Case

The Morrison-Castle case has been one of the most interesting in the an-nals of Kansas crimes. The principals one of the most interesting in the annals of Kansas crimes. The principals were Jessie Morrison, daughter of M. H. Morrison, formerly Probate Judge: Mrs. Clara Wiley Castle and Olin Castle, the latter's husband. All came of prominent families, who had lived in the county for the past quarter of a century, Miss Morrison and Castle were clerks in a store and before he married Clara Wiley, Castle paid attentions to the prisoner. It was shown in the trial that much jealousy existed between the two women. Miss Wiley and Castle were married in June last. On January 22 the women fought with a razor in Mrs. Castle's house. The latter died of her wounds eighteen days later.

In a deathbed statement made by Mrs. Castle she charged Miss Morrison with entering her house on pretense of showing her a letter, of talking in a threatening manner, and then slashing her with a razor which the defense tried to show she had abstracted from a show case in the Raeket store. Miss Morrison's plea was self-defense, and on the stand she declared that Mrs. Castle had called her into the house and attacked her and made it necessary for defendant to cut back to save her own life.

Miss Morrison was last July indicted for murder in the first degree, and has since been refused ball. It took five days to secure a jury, over 400 men having been subpoenaed. Each side presented about forty witnesses, and eight lawyers were retained. The taking of testimony consumed eleven days' time. The defendant fainted in her cell several times, and cried much in the courtroom. It was feared that she would break down before her testimony was heard, but on the day the prisoner took the stand, she displayed remarkable nerve and coonies. She recited the de'talls of the terrible death struggle without heard her prison of the State's attorneys without show of fear. Since then she has grown brighter and

For the New Associated press—P.M.1

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Importers of lemons will have an analytical test made to show the relative quantity of citric acid contained in the imported fruit, as compared with the California product. This is the latest development in the controversy between importers and handlers of domestic lemons, which arose over a test of California lemons by the Earl Fruit Company, and which showed, according to the clams of that company, that the domestic fruit contained a larger percentage of citric acid than imported lemons. Importers, it seems, are by no means satisfied with the Earl test, and accordingly will make a counter test.

Labor Unionists Oppose Trade Autonomy.

Federation Believes in Centralization.

Denunciation of Idaho Authorities Indorsed-Machinists Remain Independent.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M. LOUISVILLE (Ky.,) Dec. 14.—The American Federation of Labor today placed itself on record as opposed to trade autonomy and in favor of cen-tralization in trade unionism, estab-lishing a precedent for the establish-ment of future organizations of the country. Two propositions for au-tonomy were voted down, as it was stated by their opponents that they would tend to disintegrate the large central labor unions and destroy their compromise on the question, recomending that the different organiza tions come to some agreement for the interchange of cards and disclaiming the competency of the federation to legislate for any affiliated union. With reference to the dispute bewith reference to the dispute between the International Association of Machinists and the International Typographical Union as to trade autonomy, the Resolutions Committee recommended that the Federation of Labor refuse to interfere. Typographical Union, who supported it.

O'Connell protested against any proposition to force the machinists to join the L. T. U., maintaining that a man who takes care of a linotype machine mechanically is properly a member of the machinists' craft. Lynch argued in favor of only one union of workers in printing offices, in order that the rights of the employes might be more advantageously maintained.

Delegate Rosenberg of San Francisco, declared that the opposition to trade autonomy was in line with the general imperialistic idea now-dominant the world over.

President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers spoke in favor of the committee's action.

Vice-President Duncan offered as a substitute an amendment pledging the good services of the federation for further mediation between the organizations concerned, and requiring the incoming executive council to facilitate a settlement of the difficulty within the ensuing year; also criticising in some degree the Typographical Union for non-submission of the dispute to arbitration.

The special committee on the report of the president, indorsed Gompers's denunciation of the authorities of Idaho for alleged iflegal action during the Coeur D'Alene labor troubles in Shoshone county, Idaho. Boston boat will not be launched about the same time as the one at Bristol. In fact, there is something like a race already between the two yachts. It looks now as if the Lawson boat would be built at the Atlantic Works in Fast Boston, under the supervision of Lawley. No dimensions will be given out until the boat is fully underway, but after that it is understood that free speess will be afforded any one who desires to look at the work on the new boat. NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—According to a dispatch from London, it is reported that "Kid" McCoy and Margaret Cornille, the music hall singer, were married early this week. Neither will affirm nor deny the rumov.

McCoy says that he has three fights in prospect, and will perhaps announce them next week. He does not specify with whom they are to be.

Scanlan's Victory Rissed. MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Dec. 14.—Jimmy scanian of Pittsburgh was given the section over Dan Creedon, the Australian middleweight, tonight, after two minutes of fighting in the first round, on a foul. Creedon was getting the better of Scanian, and the autience hissed the decision.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The fourteen weary six-day grinders, cycling for fame and money, kept grinding out reflecting box, termed a "reflector," are placed two long glass bulbs, in the interior of which is a filament of carbon or some highly resisting metal. When the current is switched on, a very high temperature is obtained in a few seconds. The rays are reflected above and below, and not back on the glass, which is thus in no danger of breaking. Where human patients are subjected to this treatment, the whole body may be exposed to the rays, any desired number of reflectors being used. According to Herbert C. Fyfe, the effect of the bath on exhausted horses is little short of miraculous. A horse put in a very wearied, worn-out condition, will come out in half and race horses, after excessive exertion, the radiant heat bath is invaluable, and every up-to-date hunting or training stable will probably soon find it indispensable. As a means of giving a horse a "sweat," its use is far preferable to cramping a horse's action, spoiling his feet, and perhaps knocking him off his feet by galloping him in heavy rugs; and it has the further great advantages that it frees the internal organs from fat, assists digestion and increases the appetite. The radiant heat "box" used for horses has folding doors at either end, On both sides of the interior are the luminous electre radiators, the heat from which is under perfect control by means of a special regulator. The horse is led into the box, and an asbestos-lined rug is drawn over the top. The rug is cut at the top end and falls on each side of the horse's hody is being gently subjected to the heat, his head is outside and he can freely breathe the fresh air. Portions of the doors and sides of the box are padded in case the animal should prove restive, though as a matter of fact the horse seems to like the bath and often slumbers peacefully. The heat used varies from 250 deg. Fahr. to 350 deg. Fahr., according to the case in hand. The surgeon in attendance observes the condition of the horse by means of a slide, and a thermometer placed on the outside telishim the heat of the in made an effort to force ahead.

ITT THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.1

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The National League magnates have completed their annual winter meeting and by midnight tonight the majority of them had left New York for their homes. The magnates spent five days trying to straighten out certain matters, but their success has been far from flattering. The chaos that existed in baseball before the annual winter session was begun still exists.

The chances of another baseball war are just as good as they were on Monday last. The olive branch has been held out neither to the Players' Protective Association, nor Ban Johnson's American League. Instead, defiance has been offered.

During the meeting, the magnates turned down the Players' Protective Association flatly by refusing the players a rehearing of their demands; decided upon a 140-game schedule for next year; decided that the schedule should be so arranged that the east-the affected region. The power of concentration possible with this device is shown by the fact that it will set fire to a piece of tissue paper. This process is now being applied to all sorte of animals, and with special benefit to dogs suffering from paralysis, chorea, chronic ecsema, rheumatism, and injuries of various kinds. A veterinary surgeon puts on record the case of a long-haired Skye terrier, which was run over by a heavy van. He was incapable of using his legs, but after a twelve minutes' radiant heat beth he could stand fairly well and move about slowly. After four baths, taken on four different days, he was absolutely cured. Under the old treatment of hot fomentations, stimulating linament, etc., the time necessary for a cure would have been prolonged. In cases of muscular rheumatism of animals, the treatment has been found specially efficacious.

ELECTROTHERAPY.

It is Now Being Effectively Used in Treatment of Some Diseases of Animals.

IN SECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TRIEN! NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The use of luminous radiant heat generated by electricity is now being made effective for the cure of certain animals. In this process the light and heat are projected, by means of special reprojected, by means of special reprojected at auction by Mr. J. C. Stevens at his well-known rooms, King street, Covent Garden. Perhaps to put the dots to the 's and the crosses to the year least, that was the experience of one of the daughters of Rameses II, when she was offered her, in some respects, than she had ever known herself; for the X-rays of modern science had been brought to bear upon her cerements, with the result that photographs of the body had been obtained showing the position of her bones. In spite, however, of all this, there seemed to be no particular demand for her remains, and if her spook happened to be pervading the fragrant neighborhood of Covent Garden at the time in must have had its feelings hurt at seeing the "lot" go for ten guineas. Rameses II is reputed to have had a good many children, but that would scarcely account for the fact that a daughter of his, who stole men's hearts, nearly thirty-three centuries ago, should have fetched only ten guineas. And she was remarkably preserved, too, and inclosed in a neat casket.

A Clock Electrically Lighted.

[New York Sun:] Among the many electric novelties is a small clock mounted on a wooden box containing a storage batery. Set in the top of the box in front of the clock is a tiny electric lamp with a switch handy. Whether the clock is placed at night on a stand by the bedside where it can be reached by stretching out a hand, or whether it is left on a mantel, a turn of the switch throws a bright jight on the face of the clock, whenever it is desired to know the time. The storage battery contains a supply of electricity sufficient to last for months. A Clock Electrically Lighted.

She Was Ahead. She Was Ahead.

[Lesie's Weekly:] Marjorie had just returned from a visit to the old homestead in Tennessee, where a colored nurse nearly a hundred years old was still a treasured inmate. It puzzled her that Chloë should be called "auntle" by her mother and the family, but at last she accepted the fact and did likewise. Her playmates, trooping in to welcome her home, began to numerate their possessions acquired during her absence:

Jessie.
"M'm! That's nothing; I've got (wo of 'em,' retorted Fred.
Marjorie's eyes flashed. "Oh!" she cried, "I've a heap more'n that; I've got an auntie as old as Mefusela and black

HUMOR OF ENGLISH AND

CHARLES DICKENS

There are two worlds in showles, lik was so like South's speare's plays—the nobility and the common people. When the novelist common people. When the novel is a common people. When the novel is a common people. When the novel control is a common people. When the novel control is not dangerous man in the world the stitically, with his eye upon the object. His homely characters and scenes are full of life and feeling: he wrote of them as if he loved them and he made and the pathetics of that higher humor which skillfully blends the luddrous and the pathetics of that it is hardly surprised to observe that even when the left the humble little world have not always good marksmen, which has rather inclined me to doubt that so the whole, a created rather than a divide we not always good marksmen, which who has heard to me the whole and royal court, was to bring the novel back to life and true humble little world he loved so well for the mediaeval castle and royal court, was to bring the novel back to life and true humble little world he hoved so well for the mediaeval castle and royal court, was to bring the novel back to life and true humble little world he hoved so well for the mediaeval castle and royal court, was to bring the novel back to life and true humble little world he hoved so well for the mediaeval castle and royal court, was to bring the novel back to life and true humble little world he hoved so well for the mediaeval castle and royal court, was to bring the novel back to life and true humble little world he hoved so well for the mediaeval castle and royal court, was to bring the novel back to life and true humble little world he hoved so well for the mediaeval castle and royal court, was to bring the novel back to life and true humble little world he hoved so well for the med magnifier—as to the ingein, as is always a pourin' out red-hot coals at night and black smoke in the day, the sensiblest thing it does, in my opinion, is, ven there's somethin' in the vay and it sets up that 'ere frightful scream vich seems to say, 'Now here's two hundred and forty passenger in the wery greatest extremity o' danger, and here's their two hundred and forty acceams in vun."

This is pure fun, and, according to Saintsbury, 'Nothing that he has is of unalloyed excelence except that fun."

With the name of Dickens is always coupled that of his great contemporary. Thackeray, yet no two writers could differ more completely. They have hardly a single point in common. Thackeray began his career as a wit. He contributed humorous drawings to Punch and other periodicals and wrote paragraphs and comic sketches. I it was in Punch that he first published his 'Shob Papers.' 'Jeanie's Diary,' "Punch's Frose Novelists.' 'The Traveler in London' and many like papers. In all of them wit and broad fun run riot. His burlesque of the popular novelists are full of broad comedy joined to real criticism. He makes Ivanhoe marry Rebecca and become the ancestor of an enormously rich Hebrew family. He parodies the dashing, comantic style of Scott:

"Away through light and darkness, storm and sunshine, away by tower and town, highroad and hamlet.

Brave horse! Gallant steed! Snorting child of Araby! On went the horse, over mountains, rivers, turnpikes, apple-woman, and never stopped until he reached a livery stable in Cologne, where his master was accustomed to put him up."

His exuberant spirits play gayly about even such mighty subjects as "The Sorrows of Werther:"

"Werther had a love for Charlotte, Such as words could never utter; She was cutting bread and butter. Charlotte was a married lady, And a mortal man was Werther, And for all the waith of Indies. Would do nothing for to hurt her. So he sighed and pined and ogled. And his passion boiled and bubbled. The blow of Snobs' is a burleeque on society. In it Thackeray for Latest Novelty in Photographs. Mr. Schumacher of 107 N. Spring street, L. A., recently returned from an extended trip East, where he secured the latest styles and fads in finishing photographs. This studio is the first to introduce them. A medal has just been awarded for his superior work at the Paris Exposition.

additional rates to those then in effect. The average tariff duties was 19.58 per cent.

By a decree, Napoleon reduced the number of Parisian periodicals to thirteen; all the others, with the exception of those dealing with science, art, commerce and advertisements, being suppressed. The freedom of the press had been stified.

The old city of Haia, in the Hyderabad district, Sind, India, was threatened with encroachment by the Indus River. The inhabitants moved two miles distant and laid the foundation of modern Hais, which became farmous for its glazed pottery and tiles made from a fine clay obtained from the Indus mixed with fints.

Seven marriages in high life took place during the year. Perhaps the most important of these was that of Murat, the King of Naples and French cavalry leader, and Marie Annonciade Caroline Bonaparte, the youngest sister of Napoleon. Others were Anton Friederich Justus Thibaut, one of the greatest of German jurists and the daughter of Prof. Ehlers, at Kiel; Caroline Oliphant, the authoress of many fine Scotch songs, and Lord William Murray Nairne, in Scotland: Robert Owen, philanthropist and founder of English socialism, and Miss Dale, daughter of the owner of the

there is not always the same boldness in confessing the name that there was in the days of the early church, when to be recognized as a Christian meant persecution and often death. To read the stories of the early martyrs acts like a tonic on one's spirits. They appreciated the worth of steadfast constancy in witness-bearing. To them it was better to die for Christ than to deny him before men.

The whining saints whom one occasionally meets are not the plucky outspoken ones, whose words and life alike testify to the preëminence and power of Jesus. Confession is conducive to cheerfulness.

The hundreds of Christians in China, natives and foreigners, who went bravely to torture and death, all for the sake of Jesus, are a startling reminder to us of the fact that the martyr spirit has never left the church. Today there are uncounted thousands of Christians who would count it their highest honor to die as a testimony to Jesus Christ.

Silence is sometimes golden, but in a Christian it is sometimes treason.

Just to be brave and faithful and sincere in confessing Christ before men is the best way of bringing to pass his universal dominion. "Let the redeemed of the world say so"—consistently, constantly say so—and the world will soon be Christ's.

In about every other prayer meeting one hears the phrase, "May men take knowledge of us that we have been with Jesus." That is, of course, the expression of a sincere desire, but the speaker would be helped to see the fulfillment of it by recalling that this biblical phrase occurs in connection with an especial emphasis upon courage in confessing Christ. The Bible record runs, "Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John . . . they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus."

amystery. As it was, having lost one story for the Morning Rouser, he was ready to avail himself of any indication of another.

As he approached the couch he became aware of a strong odor of chloroform in the room. He took the handkerchief from the face of the sleeper and looked at it curiously.

"Humph!" he said reflectively, "Somebody must be tired of the game, poor fellow! Perhaps he is right, though. What is it worth to any of us in particular?"

He opened the windows and threw the handkerchief down into the courty yard and came back and looked at the face, which was very youthful and fair and seemed as much out of place in that dirty room as a lily in a stagmant pool.

Toor little kid, said Dick, "it is wicked to bring him back, but I must hole to bring him back, but I must be too to be the story and then it's murder. Dick had got his position, like most newspaper men, by the simple fact of knowing everything, so he soon found a way to awaken the sleeper.

"What made vou do it?"

The youth looked at some little statuettes on a shelf opposite.

"That and that."

Dick took up one of them and the whole pitiful story came before his eyes.

"They are prefty enough and usseless enough to drive anybody to desperation but they are not worth killing oneself for."

The youth closed his eyes wearily. Life was not worth the trouble of explaining. Would death be worth any more?

"Cheer up," said Dick energetically, "There's no such word as fall unless a man spells it for himself and supplies every letter out of his own individual alphabet. WINTER PRAIRIE FIRE

Ten Acres of Grass Burned Over and Buildings and Cars Threatened at the the New Associated Press—A.M.I CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—A midwinter prairie fire was a dangerous novelty witnessed in this city last night. It swept ten acres of grass and was subdued by farmers, firemen, policemen and street railway employés who attacked it with brooms, blankets, rubber overcoats and sod. Many cars loaded with beef on the Panhandle tracks were threatened, as was a Knickerbocker ice house and several farm houses.

The scene of the fire was the prairie between Leavitt street and Western avenue and Fortieth and Fifty-first streets. The flames are supposed to have started from sparks from the engine of a south-bound passenger train which passed at 9:39 o'clock. For a time the blaze smouldered, then broke out in several places, and, fanned by the wind, spread rapidly.

Today Will Be Bargain Day.

Taken in Exchange for Weber & Kimball Pianos a Lot of Odds and Ends Will Be Closed Out at Bargain Prices.

Today will see the finish of the greatest week we have ever experienced during our 26 years of piano business. More pianos have been sold during the five days just passed than ordinary agents can dispose of during a whole year. We have taken in exchange several pianos, which will be put on sale at extremely low prices. One is a very large size Decker Bros. piano in black upright case. Another is a genuine rosewood parlor grand Steinway & Sons, Still another is a small size Chickering upright in rosewood case and a Vose & Sons' largest size upright, mahogany case. All these pianos, together with several others, will be sold on easy payments to the first customers who come. They are all in good condition, but we have had no time to placed work on them. You can have them as they are at the following prices:

> Steinway & Sons $625. Vose and Sons - -Chickering & Sons Decker Bros. - -Briggs Guild

You know these are bargains because we have advertised them. We will still give you a new Weber or Kimball or Sohmer or any one of our twenty different makes at prices that will sell them on sight Our terms are twenty-five dollars down and $10 a month. THE LITTLE SICKNESSES

A little cold in the head is a trifle, but if neglected and it hangs on from week to week and gets into the throat and lungs it is no longer a trifle. It is then no longer a slight cold but the beginning of chronic catarrh.

Do not make the mistake of thinking you have no catarrh because the head located in nose, throat bronchial tubes or stomach.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are composed of Sangainaria, gualacol, Red gum and simular autiseptics which destroy the germs of catarrh in the blood, and no one who suffers from any form of catarrh and has seen the uselessness of sprays, douches, and powders will ever go back to them after once trying so convenient, pleasant and harmless a remedy as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and one which gives relief in so short a time.

one which gives relief in so short a time.

Even in cases where catarrh has affected the sense of smell and hearing, these tablets accomplish a cure because the blood being cleansed of catarrhal germs, the mucous surfaces of the nose and threat no longer clog up the respiratory passages with catarrhal secretions.

gining of chronic catarra.

Do not make the mistake of thinking you have no catarrh because the head and nose appear to be clear. If there is a cough, tickling in the threat, hoarseness or a sense of oppression in the chest you have throat and bronchital catarrh. If the appetite is poor, nausea, gagging and disgust for food, especially in the morning, you have catarrh of the stomach.

The surest and safest treatment for every form of catarrh is an internal remedy which acts especially on the blood and mucous membranes.

Such a remedy is the new catarrh cure, seld everywhere by druggists under name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a medicine in pleasant, convenient tablet form and containing all the best and latest specifics for catarrh, whether located in nose, throat bronchial tubes or stomach.

secretions.
All druggists sell full sized treatments of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets for the nominal price of 50 cents and the regular daily use of them will effectually cure this troublesome and dangerous

Addresses High School Pupils and the Teachers of the City—Actor's Comments on Shakespeare's Creations.

Frederick Warde was a gilded idol for an hour yesterday afternoon. He talked to the High School pupils on "Hamlet." It was a charming little affair all around.

Mr. Warde talks every year in the High School auditorium, and the event is looked forward to more eagerly than the possibility of the schoolhouse burning down on the day before examination.

The big assembly hall takes on an awed hush and the boys whose proud duty it is to escort the star to the schoolhouse from the hotel in a carriage, tell of his sacred words for days afterward, and are more honored than the school fullback or the valeditorian. And there are loads of flowers until Mr. Warde's hotel rooms must look like a hothouse.

Mr. Warde told the pupils his idea of the character of Hamlet. That he was insane. Warde denies. He believes him to have been a weak, undecided character. The technique of the killing of his uncle was criticised. Mr. Warde apparently believes that if one has an uncle that needs killing, it is Jewelry Novelties.

In the jewelry department proper you will find an immense assortment of novel, pretty jewelry. Every conceivable thing priced as only things can be priced here. From among others we have se-lected the following:

Silver Novelties

As much space as is contained in a 40-foot building lot is devoted exclusively to the showing of leather goods. The space is as big as an ordinary jewelry store. The show cases standing around this space are packed full of novelties of every description—everything from a little pocket match holder to the finest alligator dress suit case. We bought all these goods direct from the producers as is proven by the fact that we can sell the original alligator skins for 19c and 25c a foot. This department has been so crowded during the week that many of the goods have been carried to the fourth floor and are for sale in the bazaar. This section in so short a time has become headquarters for leather goods buyers. Everything mentioned in this department is in stock as this is being written, our a few hours esting will interyene between the time we write and the time you read. Some things may be gone. If they are, others equally cheap and inviting will take their places. Dress Suit Cases
